Your Support is connecting Deaf Australians across the country.

Buckle in and hold tight, because Lottery 216 is about to take off! Just think of that $800K, fresh and waiting to glide into your account! And the best part? We're the only lottery in Australia that lets you tailor your own prize package. You can choose from exploring the big red heart of Australia in your brand-new campervan, taking your loved ones to witness the wonders of the world, or buying that investment property and setting your family up for the future. Lottery 216 is about new beginnings, new experiences and as always, new fortunes!

One of the essential services made possible by your support of the Deaf Lottery is our Community Access program. Community Access serves as an open door for answering questions and providing support and advocacy – delivered in person and online all over Australia.

From translating legal or technical jargon in emails and letters to helping our community traverse government systems and technology – our team unlocks access to crucial information on topics that many Aussies take for granted. It can be anything from banking, health, and insurance, to real estate, tax and Centrelink.

Community Access is a longstanding staple of community support that remains funded entirely without government assistance, by Deaf Lottery supporters like you.

Empowering Deaf Australians: Clear information when it's needed the most.

In the world we live in, our daily lives are constantly adjusting to the impacts of unpredictable circumstances, never more so than during COVID-19. This was an incredibly hard time for all Australians, let alone for the Deaf community, where important updates were not always given in Auslan (Australian Sign Language), their first language.

In 2022, when one Deaf Australian tried to travel from Victoria to Queensland, they were, like many Aussies, placed into quarantine upon arrival. However, due to an Interpreter not being provided, they had no understanding of why this was happening, how long they would be held for, and what fees they would have to pay.

Community Access supported this client, and translated the Queensland government documents that indicated overdue quarantine payments. After receiving assistance from our team, this community member could finally access and understand all of the important information.

They also felt empowered to advocate for their own rights and needs. Upon their request, Deaf Connect was able to connect them to a disability discrimination lawyer, so that the additional "late fee" for their quarantine stay could be waived, because an interpreter was not provided to translate the first invoice. This stressful quarantine experience majorly impacted their mental health, but it also empowered them to advocate for their rights and share their story with the wider community.

The continuation of Community Access is essential in providing a lifeline for Deaf Aussies, so that they can continue to decipher crucial information when it's needed the most, just like the rest of us.

L213 WINNER'S STORY:

"I first learned that the Deaf community needed more support through my best friend's daughter, who's hard of hearing. Since then, I've always donated to Deaf charities, knowing that Deaf kids need Auslan access for a fulfilling life and career.

Winning the lottery was never even a consideration. With my grown-up children now independent—my son just bought a house and my daughter is putting herself through university—I wanted to give back to them. Instead of a static prize, I chose the DY0 option and got a Hyundai Kona and a Hyundai Tucson for them. The rest of the winnings boosted my retirement fund. Even though my family is small, we stick together, and I'm glad I can now help them out."
