

This Privacy Policy relates to the collection, storage, use and disclosure of your personal information by us in accordance with the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) and Information Privacy Principles (IPPs).

We will keep your details private and any information we do collect in relation to you is strictly secured. Your personal details are not sold or swapped with anyone. From time to time and in line with legislative changes, our Privacy Policy will be reviewed and updated. Please check our website on an ongoing basis or contact us for information.

What personal information do we collect?

We will only request personal information that is relevant to the transaction. The information we collect can differ depending on the nature of our dealings with you. Personal information collected may include your:

- Name
- Address
- Home, mobile phone and fax numbers
- Email address
- Transactional details associated with payments or donations (no credit card details are stored on our servers)

Where personal information is collected for the purpose of providing a National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) service, the following information may also be collected to ensure Government criteria for the service is met and safe service provision is provided for clients:

- Date of birth / age
- Gender
- Communication preferences
- Information about your hearing loss
- Cultural background
- Emergency contact / Next of kin details
- Health information
- Financial information

If you would like to access any support or services on an anonymous basis or using a pseudonym, please tell us. We will take all reasonable steps to comply with your request, however we may not be able to provide the support or services in question if we are not provided with the personal information requested.

How is this information used?

We will only use your personal information for the purposes for which it was originally collected (unless otherwise specified by you). Information collected is used to:

- Process and record donations or payments.
- Provide written acknowledgement of your interaction/support of the organisation.
- Accurately identify those who contact us in order to protect against unauthorised access to your personal details.
- Communicate relevant information and events via phone, post, social media and email.
- Collate statistics of a general nature.
- Provide a service.
- Respond to feedback or queries from you.
- “Cookies” are used to allow you to maintain a shopping cart and to purchase items in your shopping cart. Cookies sent to your computer from us only last while browsing our website. We do not store persistent cookies on your computer.

Information collected from Therapy and Family Services participants/clients may be used by the following organisations for the purpose of service delivery: Deaf Services Ltd, the National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA), the Healthy Hearing Program, Queensland Children’s Hospital, Queensland Health, Education Queensland and Hearing Australia. De-identified information may be used for reporting and research purposes as required by the funding protocols and for the dissemination of program data. To access or seek correction of your personal information or to obtain copies of privacy policies go to www.deafconnect.org.au, <https://myplace.ndis.gov.au/ndisstorefront/privacy.html>, <https://www.health.qld.gov.au>, <http://deta.qld.gov.au>, <https://www.hearing.com.au>

How can you ensure the information we have about you is correct?

We will take all reasonable efforts to ensure that information about you is accurate and up-to-date. However, if you have moved, changed title or any contact details, please contact us to update your details. If you would like to access your information to ensure its accuracy, please contact us on email privacy@deafconnect.org.au or phone (07) 3892 8500.

Disclosure of personal information

We will only disclose personal information to reputable companies and suppliers we engage to process credit card payments on our behalf. Any overseas providers which may collect or store your information such as cloud-based platforms or email providers are reputable and utilise stringent information security protocols. Our organisation will not disclose your personal information unless it is necessary to:

- Report to Government funding bodies on the services we provide.
- Disclose personal information if required by law, in connection with any legal proceedings or prospective legal proceedings, and to establish, exercise or defend the organisation's legal rights.
- Provide information to quality auditing bodies; however you may opt out of the NDIS auditing process by advising a staff member.

Security

We will take reasonable technical and organisational precautions to prevent the loss, misuse or alteration of your personal information. All personal information you provide is stored on our secure servers.

Any personal information recorded on paper is also kept securely. Personal information that is no longer required after the service is provided will be securely destroyed.

We may refer to you to another organisation for a relevant service. We will seek your permission before passing on any of your personal information for this purpose.

When making payment by credit card, your financial details are passed through a secure server using the latest SSL (secure sockets layer) encryption technology. SSL encryption is the industry standard, and is the same encryption technology that is used by banks. Credit card details are not stored on our servers. This information is passed directly through to our banking institution when your order is processed. Our organisation is compliant to Level 1 Merchant PCI DSS (Payment Card Industry Data Security Standards) and is audited regularly to ensure that we abide by strict data security standards so that we can continue to maintain this security level within the industry. If you have any questions regarding our information security policy, please contact us via email privacy@deafconnect.org.au or phone (07) 3892 8500.

We assume no responsibility for information practices of third party sites where the user can link through to our webpages. Please review the privacy policies listed on their sites before disclosing personal information. Please be aware that any information provided on social media platforms such as Facebook can be seen by the general public and our organisation does not take responsibility for information disclosed in this manner.

Data Breaches

While there are rigorous security and other processes in place to minimise the likelihood of your personal information being accessed by an unauthorised person, in the event that this does occur, we will notify you and advise what we have done to rectify the situation. In the event of a serious data breach, we will also advise the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner.
