

Scan for Auslan

Speech Language Pathology Support

FOR DEAF AND HARD OF HEARING ADULTS

Our Speech Language Pathologists in Far North Queensland can provide support to individuals with Auslan as their first language, focusing on your goals and desired outcomes for therapy.

Who can access support:

Deaf and Hard of Hearing adults up to 65 years of age, or with a NDIS plan.

Our Speech Language Services for adults are offered in-person in Townsville, via telehealth and in bi-monthly visits to Mackay and Cairns.

Speech Language Pathologists can work with you to:

- Build confidence when communicating in different settings.
- Improve understanding of the English language and social rules.
- Improve reading and writing skills in English.
- Improve listening skills and speech production.
- Use your voice in a healthy way.
- Access technology to improve communication.
- Access technology to improve your safety.

Our team can provide support:

- In the home
- At work
- In the community
- At a Deaf Connect office
- Online (via telehealth)

Want to know more?

Thinking about accessing speech language pathology services? Contact our team at:

therapy.info@deafconnect.org.au